After being gone for many years, the silent auction will once again be a part of the Regional meeting. We are asking for everyone's help in making this an overwhelming success. Money raised will be used to fund our scholarships. Currently, we have commitments for $10,000 over the next two years and with Regional meetings occurring only every two years, we need to raise the full amount this April.

Be as creative as you would like to be in your donation. Do you have a sports team that could provide autographed memorabilia? How about nice gift baskets from your city? Maybe concert memorabilia Or how about packages; hotel and tickets to an event? Or lastly, how about donations from those you purchase from? In the event you're unable to attend the meeting, that is no problem, you can mail your gifts/certificates/items to me or straight to the hotel (more info on that in later emails). We simply ask that you do what you can to participate.

Our goal is to fund our scholarships without having to dip into our budget, so get your charitable hat on and be thinking about what you can put together. Anything you might do will be most appreciated.

ARIANA GRANDE ADOPTS DOG FROM LOCAL TULSA SHELTER ON THE SPOT BEFORE SHOW AT BOK CENTER

(Tulsa, Okla.) October 7, 2015 – Before Ariana Grande's concert at BOK Center this evening, SMG Tulsa staff members surprised Grande at her meet and greet with eight dogs from ARF Tulsa, the Animal Rescue Foundation of Tulsa. Grande has been known for taking crazy pictures with building staff members throughout her tour and the SMG team at BOK Center wanted to make sure her night here was memorable.

Being the dog lover that she is, it's safe to say she loved the surprise. "This is the most memorable thing a building has ever done for me," said Grande. To top it all off, she immediately fell in love with a Yorkie named Strauss and adopted him on the spot. Plus, she also paid the $150 adoption fee for the seven other dogs she had the pleasure of meeting along with twelve others from ARF that will soon find their forever homes. Thanks to the generosity of Grande, now 20 total dogs will find their forever homes and those that adopt them won't have to pay anything.

At the end of the night, we received even better news and learned that Ariana Grande's mom adopted Typhoon and Grande's DJ, DJ Dubz, adopted Beethoven.

For more than 25 years, ARF Tulsa's mission has been to find responsible owners for homeless pets who have run out of time at the public shelters. They rescue pets from kill shelters and place them in forever homes. To find out more information about ARF and see the pets available for adoption please visit www.arftulsa.org.

"We came just to let her love on dogs and never imagined three dogs would get adopted this evening. We appreciate BOK Center for inviting us and helping spread the word about our foundation," said Claire Glossop ARF Intake Coordinator and board member. "We've saved lives today and there's nothing better than that!"

Dogs pictured below had their adoption fee paid for by Ariana Grande and are still looking for their forever home. Starting at the top left: Typhoon - already adopted (Affenpinscher Mix), Neal (Terrier Mix), Diana (Chihuahua), Beethoven - already adopted (Yorkie), Pacha (Schnauzer) and Miley (Jack Russell Mix).

PHASE ONE RESTORATIONS WRAP UP AT WICHITA'S ORPHEUM THEATRE

(Wichita, Kan.) – The SMG-managed Orpheum Theatre proudly announces that the restoration of the auditorium foyer/promenade and east stair tower, referred to as Phase One, is complete.

Months of intense restoration activity, including detailed hand painting by artisans and painstaking craftsmanship has resulted in the beautiful restoration of theatre mirrors, wall sconces, crown molding and much more.

This $500,000 restoration project makes a dramatic difference in the appearance of the auditorium's interior promenade area. Places where there were once holes in the walls, cracked and missing plaster are now pristine. New benches in the lobby were installed over new HVAC units to heat and cool this portion of the theatre, providing improved circulation. New mirrors compliment their newly repainted frames. New light fixtures add more light to the east stair tower, and new carpeting pulls it all together. Even the infamous exposed brick wall on the mezzanine level is now history.

Not only did this project fix what needed to be fixed, but it is also a giant step toward the theatre's ultimate goal - complete restoration.

Phases Two, Three and Four will be done simultaneously and will include the Orpheum auditorium, stage house and new lobby with additional bathrooms and concession spaces. The Orpheum's Capital Campaign will raise all of the funds needed to complete the long-awaited restoration of Wichita's iconic downtown theatre.

The theatre has completed every phase of restoration possible without getting into the theatre's auditorium, which is the long-awaited project that includes new floors and seating. Once work begins in the auditorium, the theatre will close for up to a year during restoration. Orpheum Theatre.

AT&T Performing Arts Center presents Aurora – Powered by Reliant

Last month, the nonprofit AT&T Performing Arts Center presented Aurora-Powered by Reliant, an expansive light, sound, performance and new media event that attracted an estimated 50,000 people to the Dallas Arts District. This year's event featured 80 international, national and local artists. The 19-block, 68-acre Arts District was divided into sections, curated by six renowned artists. One section included art created by the talented students at Booker T. Washington High School for the Performing and Visual Arts, whose campus sits in the district.

“This is fast becoming a signature cultural event for Dallas, where visitors can see unique and top quality artwork unlike anything they've experienced before,” said Doug Curtis, president and CEO of the Center. “The response from our community has been tremendous. As we go forward, we see it has the potential to be a major tourist draw for North Texas, something all of us can be proud of.”

Among the major installations was a new version of the video projection by German artist Leo Kuelbs and the artist collective 3_search. To the voice of an opera singer performing below, the images projected onto the Wyly Theatre made the cube-shaped building appear to contort, rise, and fall. At nearby mixed-use, high-rise One Arts Plaza, artist Memo Akten projected a series of beams two miles into the sky, which created music when the lasers crossed and amazed the audience below. And a few blocks away, visitors could walk down “Memory Lane,” a long line of projected images of Dallas in the last century, provided by people from across North Texas.

Aurora was made possible through the generosity of supporters including Presenting Sponsor Reliant, Founding Media Partner The Dallas Morning News, The Dallas Foundation, CBS 11, Neiman Marcus, City of Dallas and more.
